

Adobe proudly presents a lecture with photographer

COLIN FINLAY

COLIN FINLAY LECTURE

Monday, October 23, 2006

7:00 p.m. – 9:00 p.m.

Fashion Institute of Technology

Katie Murphy Amphitheater

D Building

(7th Ave. at 27th St.)

Free Admission

JULIEANNE KOST'S ADOBE LIGHTROOM BETA AND PHOTOSHOP SEMINAR

Friday, October 27, 2006

Come hear Adobe's Senior Evangelist talk about Photoshop and the Lightroom beta, the new application for importing, managing and showcasing large photo collections.

One Session ONLY

11:00 a.m. – 2:00 p.m.

NYU / Tisch School of the Arts

721 Broadway (at Waverly), 8th Floor / #823 (DigiLab)

Free Admission

"It comes down to story telling. It's about the students sharing what's unique about their communities with the rest of the world through their photography. Adobe's Photoshop Lightroom will be the conduit, for their expression – their shared collective experience, as they tell the story of America today, to one another and to us."

– COLIN FINLAY

Colin has documented with compassion, empathy and dignity the human condition as it has unfolded throughout the world for the last 17 years. He has covered war, conflict, genocide, famine, environmental issues, religious pilgrimage, disappearing traditions and cultures as well as numerous documentaries for television. He has photographed over 40 ad campaigns for some of the biggest ad agencies and clients throughout the world. In pursuit of his passion, he has circled the world 27 times in search of that one image that will make a difference in the lives of the people he photographs.

<http://labs.adobe.com>